

Princeton Animal Control Notice – 9/16/2011

Princeton Animal Control has resumed the trapping and capture of nuisance wildlife (ground hogs, raccoons, squirrels, etc.).

Animal control services for the capture of wildlife (bats in living areas of a house, bats in contact with humans, raccoons menacing people etc.) that represent a possible rabies exposure to people or pets will continue.

I would like to thank the residents of Princeton for your patience while we reviewed and took the opportunity to enhance our animal control services.

Sincerely,

Dave Henry, Health Officer
