

Community Input Invited for Princeton University Campus Plan

Princeton-area residents are invited to participate in an interactive mapping tool called Campus Compass that will inform Princeton University's 2026 Campus Planning effort.

With the Campus Compass mapping tool, the planning team, led by University consultant Urban Strategies, is inviting community members to describe where and how they spend time on campus and offer their ideas for improving it.

Urban Strategies plans to share aggregated responses on its blog site this summer.

The mapping tool will be available online until June 8th on Urban Strategies' blog site. Click on the link to complete a questionnaire to provide your input. It takes approximately 10–15 minutes.

If you have any questions about this initiative, contact Urban Strategies' blog administrator, princetonblog@urbanstrategies.com.
